NEEDMORE COAL COMPANY

Chattanooga Concern to Develop Coal Deposits Near South Pittsburg.

Surveys are being made for a branch railroad in Doran's Cove, six miles west of South Pittsburg, to the famous Needmore Cove property, which is on top of the mountain, seven miles north-west of that point. They are making two surveys, one on the west side and one on the east side of the cove.

If the road is built on the west side of the cove it will tap the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad at Bolivar Switch, and if on the other side at Bridgeport. The road will be built by the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway and will be eight and a half miles long. The surveys are still at work and have made no decision as to which side of the cove they will choose. They are surveying both sides in order to get the lowest per cent. of grade.

When this road is built it will open up a large field of coal and timber land. It will touch the Adger property, consisting of 15,000 acres, on which the outcroppings of coal at one place shows up eleven and a half feet.

The projectors of the road are the Needmore Coal company, of Chattanooga, who are under guarantee to furnish the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad with a certain amount of tonnage when the road is completed. They also have another route in view, which will run up Battle Creek and Sweeden's Cove, tapping the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road at South Pittsburg, and will build which ever route is the cheapest. The last named route has not been surveyed yet, but will be when the other survey is complete. When this road is built the Needmore Coal company will work about three hundred miners, and they own a very large tract of coal lands in the mountains near South Pittsburg.—Chattanooga Times.

What's the use of always fretting over this that can't be cured?

What's the use of finding fault with what we know must be endured?

Does it make our burdens lighter if we grumble about them?

Does it make life's pathway smoother if we fret about the rough spots?

Better use our time than fill it full of sighs and vain regrets.

Over some imagined blunder as does he who always frets.

A cough is a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success in curing the diseases which cause coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by Coldwell & Glendoin.

The Ice Cream Supper.

This function announced in last week's paper, came off on time and was a gratifying success. The ice cream was excellent, and met a ready sale in consequence, and about $15.00 was realized, which will be used towards the purchase of a carpet for the church.
